Hi Nikol,
Thank you for moving your post :-) I have deleted the other one (the one that you said we should ignore :-))
I am amazed by how committed you are to learning about the PYP and teaching practices in general. I really hope that you will be able to find a position in Italy- Your energy and enthusiasm shines through all of the postings that you have made in the workshop!
Best wishes,
Wilma

Re: Planning the Inquiry - Five Senses Unit - 3-4yo

Hi Nikol,

Wow! You have really done a great job completing your first planner!

For your central idea- we try to stay away from value laden words- such as 'important' I think your central idea could also work by just removing 'are important tools that'

For your summative assessment- what evidence of understanding will you be looking for? What student-initiated actions might you look for?

I am looking forward to your responses and to seeing how your planner continues to develop :-)

Best wishes,

Wilma

Re: Planning the Inquiry - Five Senses Unit - 3-4yo

Hi Nikol,

Thank you for sharing your re-vised planner and for taking time to take reflect on the comments and suggestions that you received!

I really like the way you have clearly laid out your summative assessment including sections for the task and for the evidence of understanding that you are looking for.

I hope that you will get to give this unit a go!

Best wishes,

Wilma
